Details

Hannah answered the phone on the first ring with a simple "Coop's Bistro. How may I help you?" Her voice was clear and friendly. Hannah did not give her name when answering the phone, so I asked for her name.

I asked whether their beef is dry aged or wet aged, and graded choice or graded prime. Hannah could not answer either question and sought out the answers with the staff. The quality of interaction was very good given she sought out the answers and relayed them to me correctly. We made the reservation, Hannah repeated back the date/time, thanked me for calling and we hung up.

Describe greeting in detail.
 We arrived at 7:14pm and Taylor was at the very clean and tidy hostess stand. Taylor smiled and promptly delivered a warm and genuine, "Hi! How are you folks tonight? Will you be dining with us? Do you have reservations?" Taylor seemed totally engaged with us as she walked us to our table/booth against the front door walkway. She made some small talk about the weather, handed us our menus, stated our server would be along shortly, stated, "Enjoy your supper," and left.

Details of Server Engagement	Cathy arrived five minutes after we were seated. Cathy smiled and in a warm and genuine manner stated, "Hello, my name is Cathy and I will be your server tonight. Can I get you a soft drink or something from the bar?" The quality of her interaction during service was excellent and her attentiveness to detail (placing next service flatware/dishes and crumb service) and food service was excellent while her bussing dirty dishes between courses was lacking as was servicing the bill after I put in the credit card. Another server, noting how long it had been since I put down the bill with credit card, took it upon himself to run the bill. The quality of departure was very good with Cathy thanking us, saying she hoped we had enjoyed our meal, and saying, "Come see us again."

Details	Cathy introduced herself, did not independently make beverage suggestions. Only after my date asked about a drink menu did Cathy make a drink suggestion and that was for Spring Fever. Food menu questions were answered correctly and personal recommendations were made. She recommended an appetizer (deviled eggs), entrees (ribeyes and salmon and off menu buffalo ribeye), and desserts (special molten chocolate cake). The bill was accurate although I was charged $3 to taste the house steak sauce without being told there would be a charge. Cathy was seen helping serve entrees to another large party table.

Details

My date stated the Spring Fever alcoholic beverage was different and excellent. My water was cold and refreshing.

The deviled eggs were excellent, reminiscent of Southern deviled eggs but with a very complimentary twist of candied bacon and radish.

We did not have a soup or salad.

The salmon was cooked to my date's liking and tasted fresh with excellent flavor.

My Wagyu ribeye was most impressive, tender, flavorful, properly seasoned and at my requested doneness (medium-rare). I stated to my date it ranked in the top two of the best steaks I have ever eaten. The mushrooms, kale, and onion side was excellent.

The molten chocolate cake was excellent with the accompanying sautéed bananas and ice cream were very complimentary to the cake.

Details	The Spring Fever alcoholic beverage was served with a slice of cucumber which was a nice touch. The deviled eggs were lined up adjacent to each other in a nicely-styled rectangular dish with some sort of spice sprinkled above. The salmon was served sitting on top of an assortment of onions, kale, carrots and a puree. The chocolate molten cake was centered between sautéed banana chunks and a scoop of ice cream. All dishes were very visually appealing in their service.

Details	Spring Fever drink was of good size and value as was the deviled egg appetizer. The salmon was a smallish tail piece and my date would have preferred a somewhat larger center cut. My Wagyu steak, at 16 oz, was of excellent portion size and value. The molten cake with its accompanying sauteed bananas and ice cream, was of excellent portion size and value. We shared an appetizer and dessert and we were both satisfied with the portions.
